Your World in 2024 and The Future of Everything

The future demands that you think BIG, be bold, and relentlessly pursue opportunity. You do that by understanding what comes next - and knowing what to do about it.

→ The Reality of Tomorrow

Companies that do not yet exist will build products not yet conceived, with materials not yet in existence, using methodologies not yet developed – and these will be sold to consumers who do not yet know that these new products and services will become a critical part of their lives!

That's the perspective that Futurist Jim Carroll brings to his keynote presentation at association events and corporate leadership meetings - and with that theme in mind, will provide you with a customized, concise overview of the trends that matter into 2024.

→ Tracking the Trends

Artificial intelligence & machine learning; the metaverse, and virtual and augmented reality; autonomous vehicle technology; collaborative robots and the acceleration of proximity partners; pharmacogenetics and DNA-based precision medicine; the dominance of algorithms and predictive insight; green tech, microgrids, and renewables - Futurist Jim Carroll will cover it all in this fast moving presentation.

→ Global Clients

Clients who have arranged for Jim at these sessions have included Disney, Chemours, Dupont, Rich Foods, NASA, Mercedes Benz, New York Life, Volvo, Siemens Energy, Nestle, Black & Veach, Pfizer and many, many more.

Disruptive Trends Insight that Matters

"2024 will see the continued acceleration of technological, scientific, and business model trends. Some people see the future and see a threat - innovators and growth-oriented leaders see the same trends and see opportunity!"

- Futurist Jim Carroll

→ Highly Customized

- NASA had him deliver (twice) a keynote on the 'future of space' in the context of space privatization and commercialization.
- The PGA of America had him provide his insight (twice) on the transformative trends that would provide for massive growth and innovation in the golf industry.
- Pfizer had him provide an internal leadership keynote on the transformation of healthcare through virtual and telemedicine, accelerated science and R&D, doctor and patient empowerment, medical device connectivity, and more – 6 months before the global pandemic.

→ Concise Insight

Are you ready to pursue a BIG future? Do you understand what comes next and what you need to do about it? You will come away with new insight that will help you see the disruptive trends that will impact you in 2024, focus on opportunity, unlock creativity, accelerate innovation and deliver on growth opportunities!
